The problem

The philosophical problem

Everyone should be able to explore the world, regardless of their situation. And sharing the beauty and culture of your hometown should be rewarding both emotionally and financially.

The traveler problem

- 1 You're a passionate traveler who faces constraints such as time, money, or physical limitations that prevent you from traveling.
- 2 Current platforms lack private real-time tours with interactivity and personalization.

The tour guide problem

- 3 You're a local with a wealth of knowledge about your city, and you love sharing it with others through a fulfilling experience.
- 4 How to monetize your knowledge, and get rewarded financially for your time tour guiding?

The solution

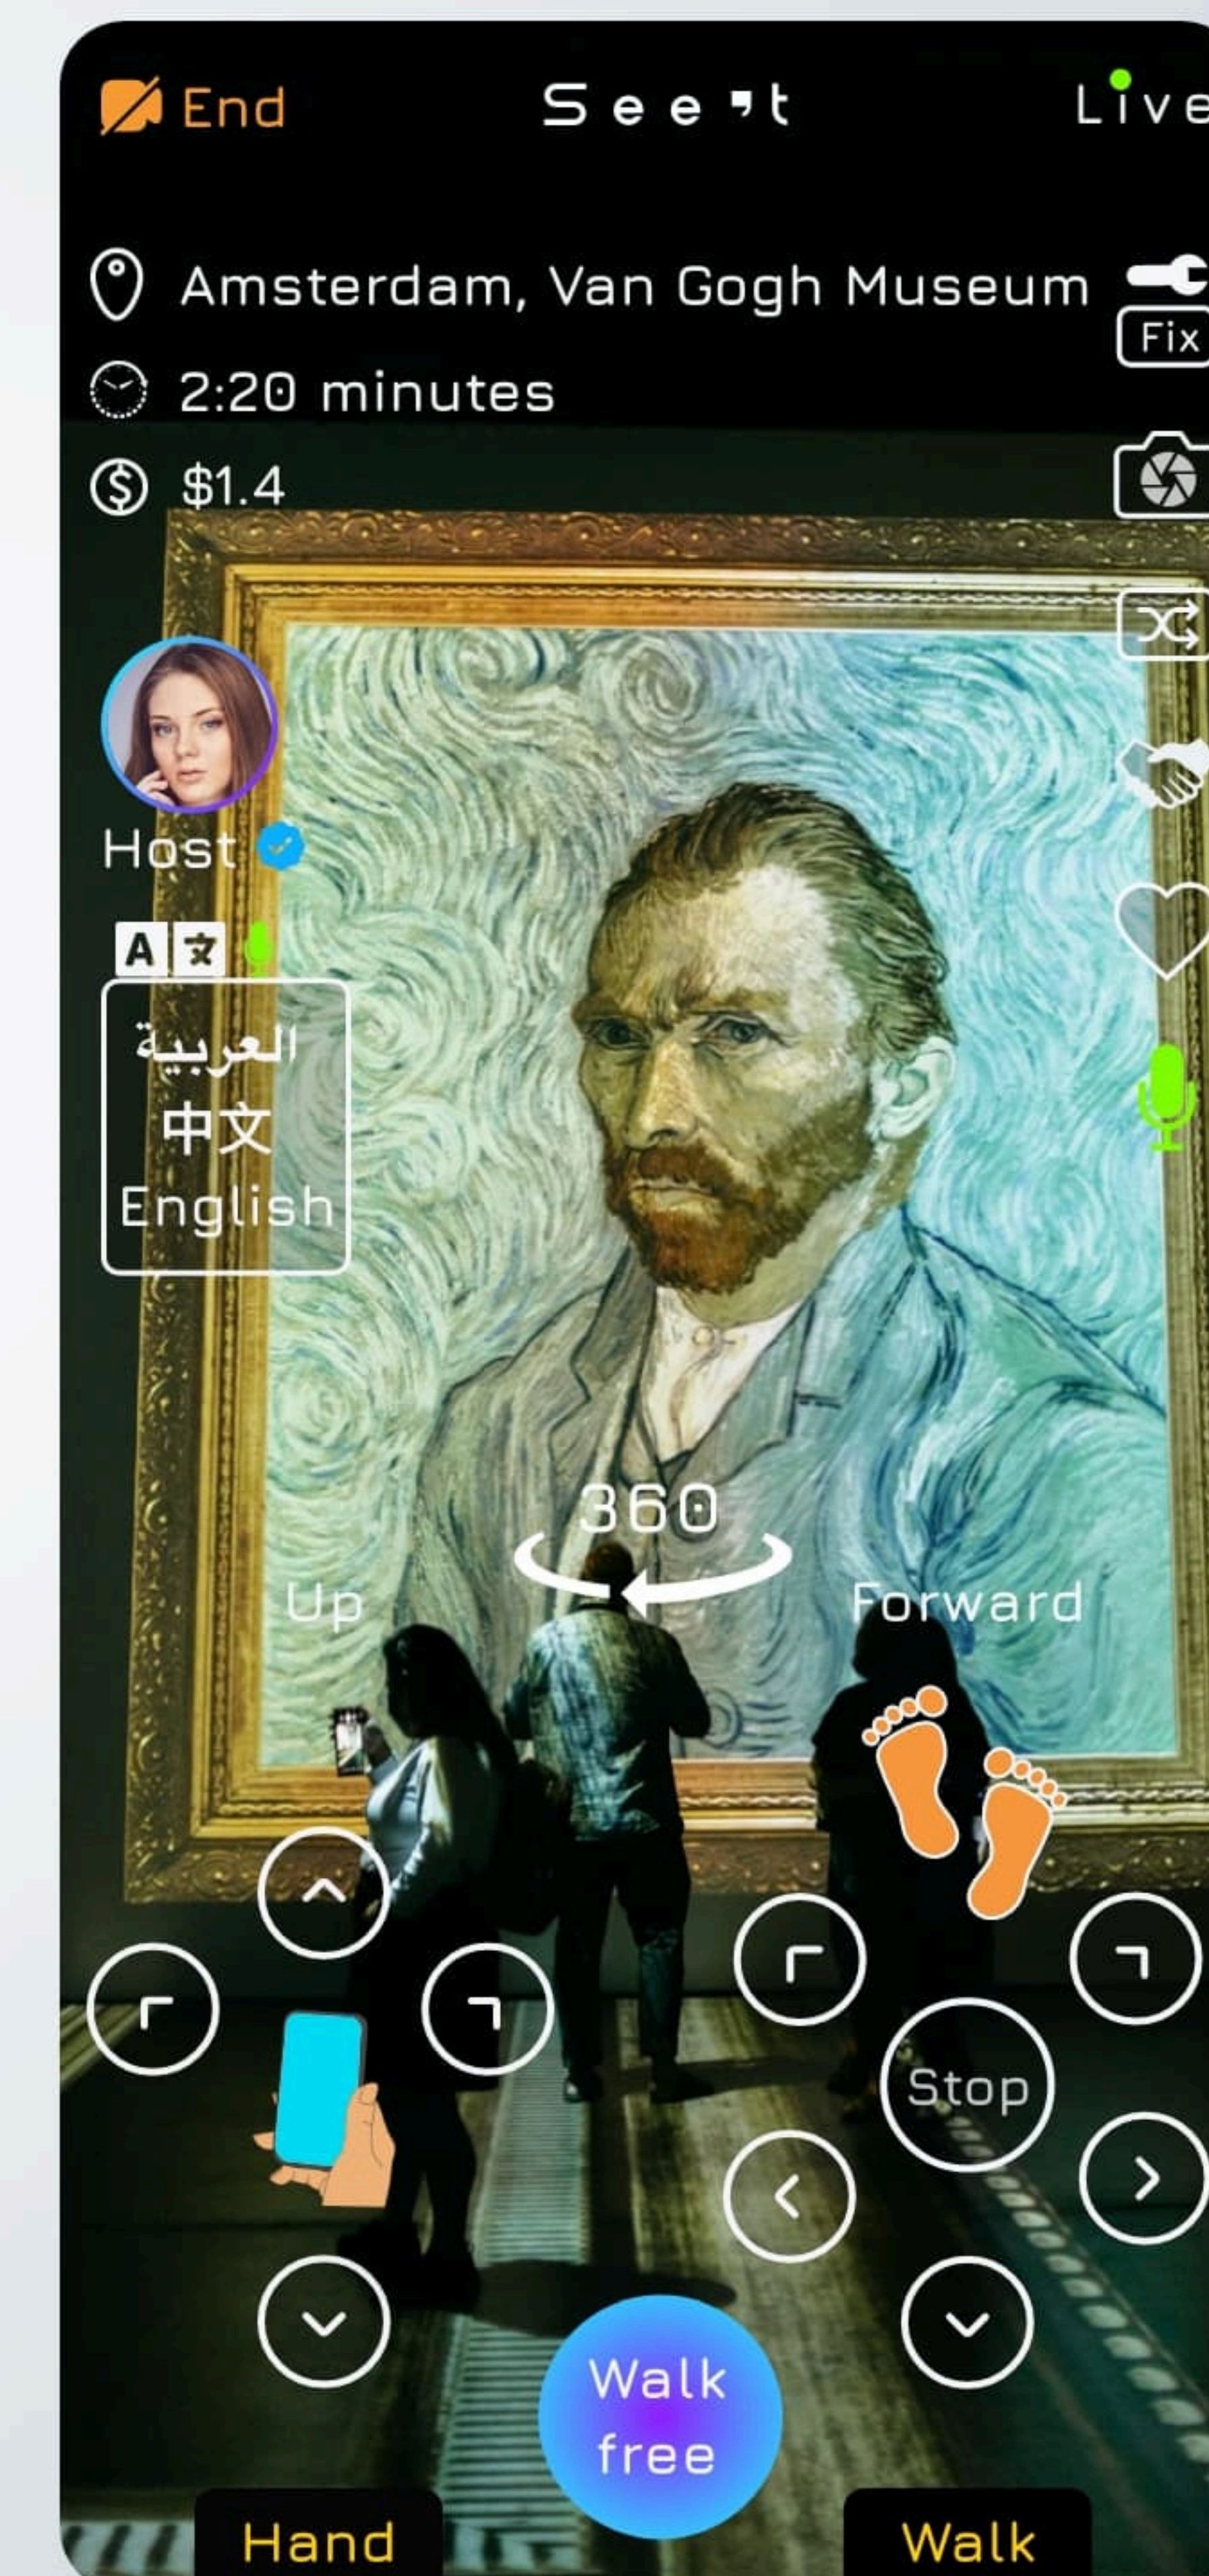

Interactive real-time virtual travel

For the traveler

See't offers you an interactive way to explore the world remotely in real time. Our platform provides one-on-one private real-time tours. A personalized travel experience that allows you to control your virtual journey as if you're walking there in person! Offering a more engaging alternative to other traditional virtual tours or video-on-demand platforms.

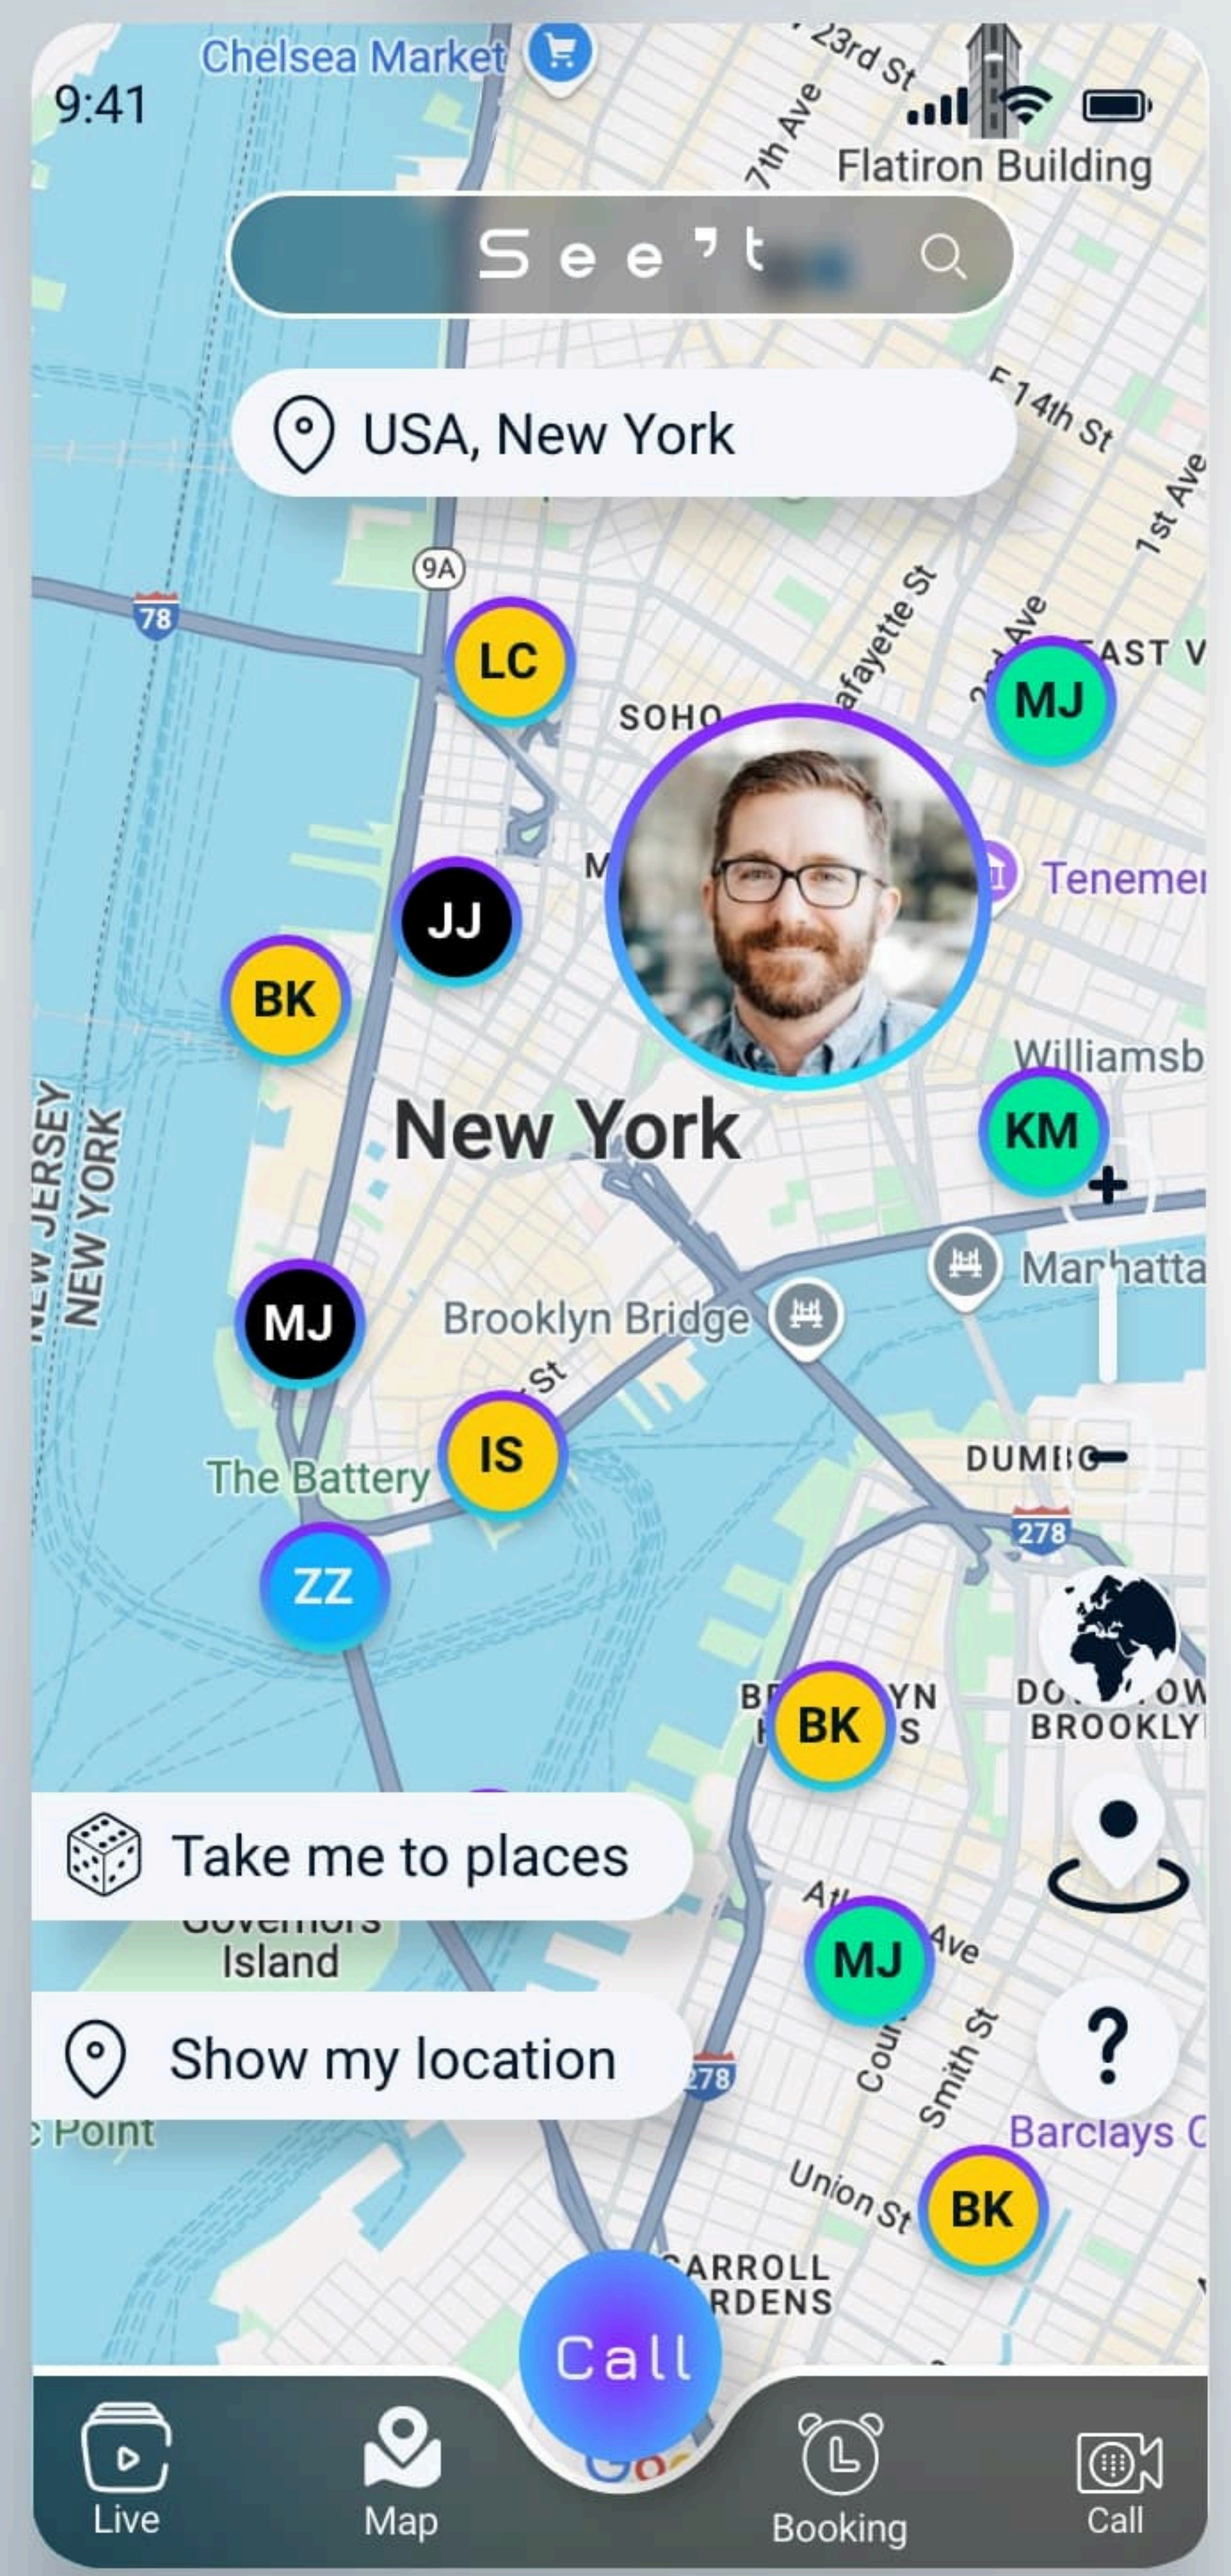

For the tour guide

We built a platform that connects you with remote travelers eager to experience your city through your eyes and camera. Use our platform to monetize your local knowledge by providing live virtual tours.
